ADEPTUS MECHANICUM

VERSION 1.1 - LAST UPDATE: 23 MARCH 2023

1. <Behavior> When a player forgets to choose a Doctrina Imperative or Canticle for the turn, it is customary to remind them of that fact. If both players forget, a Doctrina Imperative or Canticle is chosen as soon as any of the 2 players notices
2. A Cybernetica Datasmith that performs the Field Reprogramming action will not be able to make use of the Machine Sentience ability as long as the action has not been resolved
3. When a unit gains the "core keyword" due to Machine Sentience, the unit loses the core keyword and all associated benefits as soon as the model with the Machine Sentience cannot make use of its aura or the unit benefiting doesn't find itself within 3". For instance when Kastelans are granted the CORE Keyword, and Cawl is giving them the Lead in Prayer rerolls during the Command Phase, and subsequently the Datasmith switches the protocol in the movement phase, thus making the Kastelans lose the CORE keyword for the duration of the switch, those Kastelans can no longer use the rerolls granted by Cawl.
4. Lucius Forgeworld Kastelan Robots in the Protector Protocol cannot benefit from Solar Flare.
5. For the purpose of a Chaff Launcher interacting with Forgeworld Dogma Solar Blessing, consider the interaction only when the final damage characteristic of the attack (so after modifiers) has been determined.
6. The Technoarcheologist's pistol cannot be used to shoot models within engagement range.
7. A broad spectrum data tether will stack with the benefit from an enhanced tether.
8. Dunestrider and March To War both happen instead of making an advance roll, and can never be used in conjunction with each other.
